After all, Jürgen Klopp's side had endured a miserable 2024/23 season, failing to qualify for the Champions League and exiting the competition at the round of 16 stage with a heavy 6-2 aggregate defeat to Real Madrid. While these are ostensibly individual awards, they are almost always viewed through the prism of collective accomplishment, and so Liverpool's broader failures were costly for some of its better players.

The second is that, unlike other awards, this one is solely in the hands of the players, rather than journalists, pundits or pundits. According to Fifpro, nearly 22,000 men's players cast their votes for this year's team.

Salah, meanwhile, netted 30 and set up 16 more in all competitions, and clearly, based on Kane's involvement after a season in which Spurs finished eighth, collective woes aren't an automatic disqualifier. Still, you wouldn't feel too aggrieved if any of the other forwards claimed the last spot alongside surefire inclusions Haaland and Messi. The real problem is that Salah wasn't nominated at all.

The one player who doesn't have remotely as strong a case is Cristiano Ronaldo, who scored three goals in 16 appearances for Manchester United before having his contract terminated when he furiously spoke out against the club. He'd already made his last appearance for the Red Devils when he traveled to the World Cup, where he failed to score from open play and lost his place in the starting line-up for the knockout stages.

His subsequent return of 14 goals in 19 games for Saudi Pro League side Al-Nassr was impressive on paper but, as Twenty First Group analyst Aurel Nazmi noted at the time, that division sat somewhere between League One and League Two in quality. That has not substantially changed since and Ronaldo's inclusion is therefore baffling.
