The Making Of

I ve always liked the idea of creating experiences for the web. Nowadays, almost every mobile and desktop device has a web browser and visitors can e xperience your creation without the friction of , downloading and installing a s eparate app. Prior to creating Vortelli s, I dabbled with tools like Three.js, P haser and Construct, but , I never actually completed a project. I kept falling into the cycle of starting a project with excitement and motivation , but as I d encounter problems, I d gradually lose interest and eventually quit. In mid-2024, I promised myself that I was going , to break that cycle b y finishing and releasing a 3D multiplayer web game. I still wasn t proficient w ith any particular , game engine and I spent many hours reading and watching You Tube videos trying to decide on the perfect engine. I , eventually figured out t hat there was no such thing as a perfect engine and I really just needed to pick

, one, learn the basics and start building. I ended up choosing PlayCanvas beca use I was already pretty comfortable with JavaScript , and I found its editor ve ry simple to use.

I spent the majority of my time figuring out how to get , the multiplay er netcode working. At first, the prototype game didn t have any sort of goal or objective, it was just , an open world where you could hang out with other play ers. Maybe it was because I m a solo dev, but , I started to feel that players w ould quickly become bored with this experience. Some kind of minigame needed to be , added to give players a sense of purpose. I went with a pizza cooking minig ame because everyone loves pizza, right? , I chose the name Vortelli s Pizza, because it sounds like the name of a somewhat believable pizza shop and I , coul dn t find any real life businesses on Google using that name already.
