[4] According to this hierarchy, each Olympic sport can be subdivided into multiple disciplines, which are often mistaken as distinct sports. The disciplines listed here are only those contested in the Olympics-gymnastics has two non-Olympic disciplines, while cycling and wrestling have three each. If this criterion is met, then the opportunity to propose additional sports to the programme is at the full discretion of the respective Organising Committee of the Olympic Games and subject to the final decision of the IOC Session.[12] The current categories, as of 2013, are as follows, with the pre-2013 categorizations also being available. Since the start of the World Games in 1981, a number of sports, including badminton, taekwondo, and triathlon have subsequently been incorporated into the Olympic program.
