They do 't disturb the Earth's ionosphere, however, which in turn disturbs radio communications. Along with energetic ultraviolet radiation, they heat the Earth's outer atmosphere, causing it to expand. A solar flare is a sudden brightening observed at times of increased solar activity, usually accompanied by the ejection of high-speed solar wind particles that are called coronal mass ejections (CMEs). When a strong enough flare occurs, charged electrons in the upper atmosphere can temporarily disrupt radio waves on the side of Earth that is facing the Sun, either degrading or completely absorbing them.
